Race 1 – MIRACULOUS HANDICAP

#4 Sight Dreamer put the writing on the wall with a strong closing third on his Class 5 debut after drawing wide and settling near the tail. With any improvement off that, he looks a major player. #11 Fairy Horse continues to knock on the door despite remaining a maiden, and his honest profile keeps him in contention. #8 Smiling Collector maps for a much kinder run in transit, gets blinkers on for the first time in his second start in Class 5, and shapes as a knockout chance at odds. #7 Young Horizon is consistent at this level and this course and distance, and his fast-finishing fifth last time out suggests he's nearing another win.

Race 2 – MR AWARD HANDICAP

#5 Apolar Fighter has been edging closer and now looks well placed to strike after back-to-back thirds over this course and trip. On the quick turnaround and from a low draw, he gets his chance. #1 Circuit Mighty wasn't beaten far on his Class 5 debut and, while drawn wide, has plenty of time to work across under Zac Purton. #3 Draco is suited by the rise in trip for his second try in this grade after making ground from the rear over 1200m. #4 Gluck Racer did nothing from a wide gate last start but is capable of better and could surprise at odds if he finds a more prominent position.

Race 3 – BIG PROFIT HANDICAP

#9 Noble Fans had solid betting support last start and ran a close second to Lucky My Way, suggesting a win isn't far off. He's improving with racing and can go one better. #8 All's Well is an improving three-year-old who has been finishing his races strongly and, if he can stay in touch early, shapes as a genuine threat at a price. #1 Fun N Fun Together makes his own luck on the pace and has been consistent on the all-weather, though he now needs to replicate that form on turf. #2 Goldentronicmighty closed off well into third last time despite a wide alley and, although drawn wide again, his recent form holds up in this.

Race 4 – PINGWU SPARK HANDICAP

#8 Loveisintheair has shown glimpses of ability and comes off a fast-finishing second over 1200m. Still a maiden after seven starts, he's an improving three-year-old who looks poised to break through. #3 Devas Twelve returned to Class 4 last start, rolled forward from a wide draw and was only reeled in late for third. He'll be hard to peg back under the right race shape. #9 The Auspicious continues to run well with his typical get-back-run-on pattern and can figure again. #10 Pejibaye has been closing off nicely over 1200m and now rises to 1400m fourth-up. A recent trial win has him in good order for this.

Race 5 – SOLAR HEI HEI HANDICAP

#10 Star Brose had no luck on his first try at the mile when held up at a key stage yet still managed to run third. With even luck this time, he looks hard to beat. #1 Super Unicorn has been okay at the bottom of Class 3 since joining Mark Newnham and now takes a drop in grade that can sharpen his chances. #5 Etalon Or had every opportunity from barrier 4 last start but again found one better. He's been costly but should offer better value and remains a threat. #2 Frantanck is down sharply in the ratings, and will give them something to catch from the front.

Race 6 – MEDIC KINGDOM HANDICAP

#8 Smart Fat Cat is heading the right way after two eye-catching runs. He closed strongly for fourth last start despite the race shape being against him, and a stronger tempo this time should play to his strengths. #1 Voyage Boss was a debut winner two back, then had a torrid trip from a wide gate last time. That's a complete forgive and he's worth another chance from a better draw. #9 World Hero is among the speed influences and his win over Sugar Ball two starts back rates well here. #3 Do Your Part impressed two runs ago when taking a sit off the leaders and winning smartly, then backed it up with a solid third after setting a strong pace.

Race 7 – VICTORY MARVEL HANDICAP

#6 Rainbow Seven is knocking on the door with three straight placings from as many starts and looks the one to beat. #5 Bulb General defied his odds on debut when charging home into third behind Crossborderpegasus, and his recent trial suggests he's come on since. #10 Winning Machine improved second-up despite being caught wide throughout, and with a better draw this time, he can take another step. #2 Champion Instinct had a tough trip last start when trapped wide without cover. While he faces a similar draw again, his past form in this grade stands up.

Race 8 – THE HONG KONG RACEHORSE OWNERS ASSOCIATION TROPHY (HANDICAP)

#5 Patch Of Theta reunites with Hugh Bowman after closing off well for fourth against a slow tempo last start, and the rider change could prove decisive. #4 Happy Together returned to form with a narrow second to Copartner Prance over 1400m and should relish the step back up to the mile. #6 Massive Sovereign resumes off an eight-month break and makes his first appearance for the David Eustace stable. Last season's Derby winner has trialled well and, while the mile is short of his best, his class should take him a long way. #2 Chancheng Glory had excuses when caught wide last start over 1800m, and the drop back in trip is a key positive.

Race 9 – SIGHT WINNER HANDICAP

#9 Pope Cody is edging closer to a win and, despite drawing poorly again, his recent runs have been full of merit. He's consistently finding the line well and gets another crack. #11 Mister Dapper has thrived since transferring to David Eustace, chasing a hat-trick now as he steps into Class 3 from a favourable draw. #6 Huge Wave returns to the mile, which suits better than the 1400m last start where he closed off well for fourth. #2 Mickley is hard to catch but his last-start head second to Light Years Charm showed what he's capable of when things go right.

Race 10 – JOY AND FUN HANDICAP

#6 Little Paradise had excuses last start after missing the jump, racing keenly, and being steadied mid-race. He's since won a trial impressively and can bounce back. #5 Super Infinity has been building toward another win and was unlucky last time when held up late, finishing third once clear. #2 Bundle Of Charm is winless for over a year but has run second in his past two and maps to get a favourable run again. #3 Celestial Hero, now third-up in Hong Kong, took a good step forward last time with a close fourth and can progress further.

Race 11 – ALL YOU WISH HANDICAP

#5 Beauty Bolt shapes as a strong second-up contender after a promising local debut, charging home late into second. #12 Spirit Of Peace made full use of a good draw last start to settle closer and win with something in hand. He faces a class rise but maps well again and should be in the finish. #7 Flash Current drops back to 1400m which suits better after only plugging away over the mile last time. #10 Riding Together was an easy winner in Class 4 last start and, while his previous efforts in Class 3 haven't stood out, he's clearly on the improve with more racing.
