RACE 1:TALKSPORT POWERED BY FANS FILLIES' HANDICAP

Lady Loulou Infinitive Addosh

LADY LOULOU went close to getting off the mark when beaten a neck at Chelmsford earlier this month and the application of blinkers, combined with a step up in trip, could be in her favour. Infinitive is a well-bred filly who commands respect on her first start for David O'Meara following a runner-up effort over C&D in December. Addosh and Ready To Shine appeal most of the remainder.

Abruzzo Mia Anif Chief's Will

Anif has been a model of consistency over the past couple of months and it would be no surprise to see the nine-year-old being competitive once again. The vote, though, goes to ABRUZZO MIA following his handicap debut when just failing to get his head in front at Newcastle. The six-year-old remains unexposed on just his fifth career start, having clearly needed plenty of time with his debut only coming in September, and Michael Dods' gelding makes plenty of appeal running off the same mark. Chief's Will is respected along with Masqool.

RACE 3:IT'S TIME TO TURN TO TALKSPORT HANDICAP

Brave Emperor Mohatu Dagmar Run

BRAVE EMPEROR returned from a spell on the sidelines with an authoritative victory at Wolverhampton in November and the manner of that performance suggested the step up to a mile may yield further progression. Mohatu was badly hampered when runner-up on his handicap bow at Lingfield and first-time cheekpieces are likely to aid his cause, while Dagmar Run is capable of stepping forward from his recent second at Kempton.

RACE 4:SPREADEX SPORTS BEST PREMIER LEAGUE ODDS HANDICAP

Tiger Crusade Zip Witch Hunter

An open event with many of these arriving in good form, so only a tentative vote can go to TIGER CRUSADE. The David Simcock-trained gelding appeared to relish the return to further when winning over C&D earlier this month and a 3lb rise ought to be manageable having won from a higher mark in the past. Zip travelled powerfully when successful at Newcastle last time out and he must be feared along with Witch Hunter, who landed a similar contest at Wolverhampton on Boxing Day. Others to note include Moai and Tylos.
