RACE 2: RACING TV PROFITS RETURNED TO RACING HANDICAP

Lochnaver Estad Cometh The Man

William Haggas has to be respected when sending his horsebox north, and his LOCHNAVER could get back on track now dropping back in trip. The Frankel filly shaped well over both this distance and a mile in novice contests during the winter. Catterick runner-up Estad makes his handicap bow and is respected, while stablemate Cometh The Man is the choice of Danny Tudhope as he steps up in distance. Consistent pair Camerily Joe and Lead Story are others to note.

RACE 3: LONGINES IRISH CHAMPION WEEKEND EBF RESTRICTED MAIDEN FILLIES' STAKES (DIV 1)

(GBB RACE)

Silken Petals Winter Siege

SILKEN PETALS finished ahead of a subsequent winner when second on debut at Kempton and can build on that promising start to get off the mark. She is preferred to Catterick third May Punch, who was doing her best work late following a slow start and could relish the step up in distance. The market may guide best regarding Archie Watson's newcomer Winter Siege, with Almohandesah and Takeyourbreathaway other debutants to watch for.

RACE 4: LONGINES IRISH CHAMPION WEEKEND EBF RESTRICTED MAIDEN FILLIES' STAKES (DIV 2) (GBB RACE)

Alaskan Jewel Zwift Ruby Red

ALASKAN JEWEL wasn't disgraced when eighth in the Marygate at York and can put the experience she has already banked to good use as she steps up in trip in first-time cheekpieces. Zwift is another who could appreciate the move up to 6f and was third at Thirsk behind a well-backed winner. Ruby Red put in her best work late following a troubled passage over track and trip recently, with Kentucky Rose and Fast Response the pick of the newcomers.

Ballintoy Harbour Country Carnival Not On Your Nellie

BALLINTOY HARBOUR hit the ground running as a three-year-old, recording her second win from just three appearances in good style at Newcastle in April. An initial mark of 80 does not look insurmountable for the daughter of Vadamos and she is preferred to Country Carnival, who returns to calmer waters after two underwhelming performances in good company. Not On Your Nellie completes the shortlist after bolting up on her reappearance at Catterick.
